DEDICATION

This, Clinchco's first yearbook, is dedicated to Mr. E. R. Beverly who directed the English department for six and one half years. Mr. Beverly has always been a helping friend to the senior classes and to all others who needed his help. We hereby extend our very best wishes, Mr. Beverly.

SENIORS

Garnett Austin has not been properly scolded since Mr. Beverly has been gone. She is a slender, fun-loving girl, with blonde hair and angelic blue eyes, which can fool anyone who doesn't know what a spit-fire she is.

Louise Cane Markland - Few senior classes can boast a married girl on its roll, and none so lovely as our Louise. Here's hoping she will be a great success in the roll most girls would like to play--that of housewife. Clara Cassell is reserved and studious, and very likable. She has the kind of rare personality which makes her welcome in any company.

Edna Cassell -- This girl has red hair but not the bad temper which is supposed to go with it. She is rather quiet, hates to read or talk aloud in class, and sometimes blushes charmingly.

Nellie Garrett is a small bundle of energy. Nellie tries and succeeds in every new form of sport. She is unusually popular, but popularity has not spoiled her. A very sweet girl.

Vernice Rose -- Suggestion: change her name to "Tardy" Rose, for in all her golden school days she has surely never been on time more than ten times. She deserves -- and probably won't get -- a medal for setting one record for C.H.S.

Ferd Farmer -- Few boys are as popular with the girls and as good an all round athlete as Ferd. He should be a success at anything he does.

D. C. Hillman, Jr. is first last and always a republican. After that he seems to like History, sports, musical shows, and girls. He likes to sing too.

Clayton McCowan -- The boy who has a million cousins and a dislike to bragging on himself--plus the friendly grin and the overpowering ambition to be a mechanic. His friends bet he will be a success.

Bernard Rakes is so quier one never knows whether he is in class or not until he starts to answering the questions which stump most everyone else. That boy has brains and can use them. More pupils like Bernard would cause teachers to have better tempers.

Garland Wright -- This boy is small but he can play basketball and softball as well as anyone. He is not very talkative but when he says something it's worth listening to.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Barnum Powers, Jr., Captain of our midget team, a junior, has another year to show his alertness and accuracy at the basket.

Good Luck kid.

Ford Farmer, co-captain. Ford's guarding and swell shooting will be greatly missed. We lose him through graduation. His sportsmanship will long be remembered.

George Jordan, our high point man of the season, a freshman, should be an all-county forward by his senior year if he keeps up his excellent playing. Here's hoping you great success, pal.

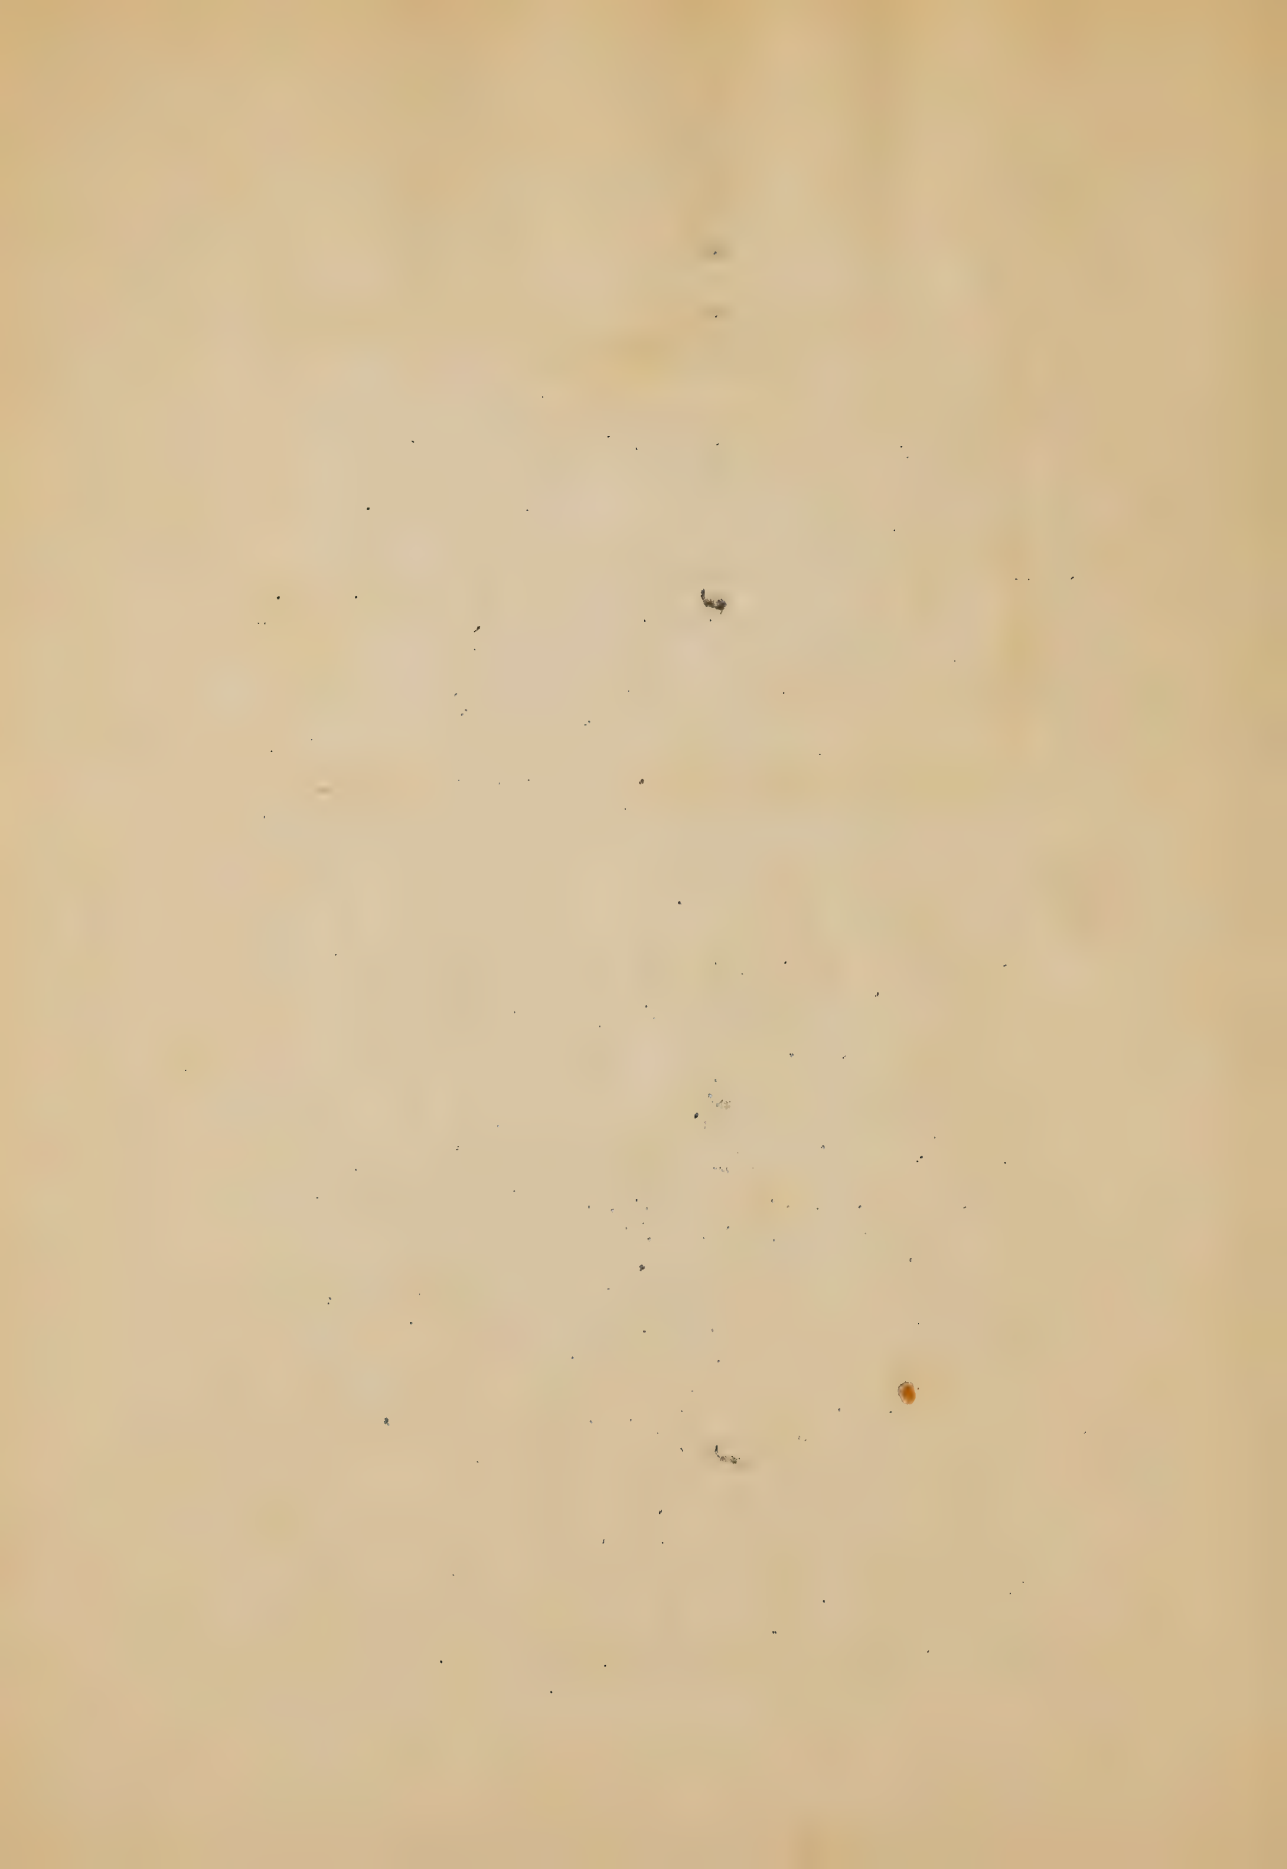

Robert Cain, another of our fellow juniors, has a great eye for the basket, and should go places next year. A good forward in any team.

D. C. Hillman, Jr., the other senior on our team. His backing up shots has helped us to victory. "June" has played every position on the team and did a good job at each. His sportsmanship will always remain to guide us.

Robert Tate, the lone sophomore. We consider Bob one of the highest jumping centers in the county. His great defensive playing has helped us immensely. May your future playing be successful.

Our prospects for next year's team are favorable. We have two freshmen that should shine in N. H. Jones and Claude Hillman. Also we have some talented material in the sophomore class that should develop. Our hats go off for a great winning team that will exhibit the highest type of sportsmanship for old C. H. S.

Last but not least, our versatile manager, Sam Ritz. Sam has been loyal to us the entire year. His rooting and encouraging words have been greatly appreciated. Our best wishes for his swell future. Keep your spirit up for C. H. S.

Girls Basketball

Ruby Crabtree, forward and captain of our team, with two years experience has proved herself a very apt and capable player.

Eula Johnson, guard, and a scrappy one at that, showed vim, vigor, vitality and fight in every game.

Inn Kiser, forward for another two years, was also up and at 'em every minute of the game.

Leora Caldwell, forward. Her first year on the court was quite a success. Laurels ahead.

Ona Wilborn, guard. One of our smartest girls, showed her spirit for the alma mater. Size doesn't count here. Also laurels ahead.

Viola Romans, guard. Quiet and reserved, she has shown adaptibility in the three years she has played.

Mary Rudder, forward, and guard. With her most successful year, proved her experience and ability in each and every game.

Cora Lee Stewart, from Dante to Clinches she moved, and from forward to guard she skipped. She really showed us that she could play basketball, "if" she was in the humor.

Ina Vencille, our "teeny weeny" girl showed her school spirit in practice and also in the games she played.
